

Camp Psych

The goal of Camp Psych is to provide a window into how psychological science works. What are some of the major questions investigated by psychologists? Campers will get hands-on experiences that introduce them to research in psychology in a fun, challenging, and engaging environment. Campers will not simply learn about cutting edge issues and research in psychology; they will engage in research themselves. Perfect for students interested in psychology, this camp gives students an insider view of the field as well as preparation for college studies.

"During this FLO, I learned so much about psychology that had me awestruck. It was an intense camp that really attracted me to the study of psychology, and also taught me how to live independently for a small period of time. One thing that I believe was very important to me was how I lived on the campus. It was very different than being back at home, and it helped me learn what it was like to be on my own. This camp had me do things that taught me responsibility, like getting up on time for class. I firmly believe it helped me relieve stress of what its like to live on campus, while also teaching me more about what I love."
